Report Condemning Town Water Termed 'Totally Irresponsible'

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Andover ranks among ten Massachusetts towns with the worst water supplies in the state, according to a report aired by WBZ-TV last month — but both town and state officials maintain that Andover's water surpasses state standards for water quality.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony calls the Channel 4 report "totally irresponsible." The testing procedures Andover carries out to check water quality "go far beyond what is required by the state," the manager adds. "The state is very happy with our water."

Public Works Director Robert McQuade also defends Andover's water quality: "I would like to have any qualified person come in and look at the quality of water we produce and make an honest evaluation," he says. "We'll stand up to anyone in the country."

And Robert Kubit, a senior sanitary engineer for the Water Supply Division of the state's Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE), says that Andover offers "excellent water. It's very good water."

In a series of reports broadcast May 11, 12 and 13, WBZ stated that the ten towns with the worst water supplies in the state are, in alphabetical order, Andover, Bedford, Burlington, Dover, Essex, Ipswich, Lynnfield Center, Reading, Weymouth and Wilmington.

Bob Hancock, a Channel 4 research assistant, explains that the report was based on a survey taken by Water General of Cambridge, a private firm, as well as a 1981 DEQE report. The survey focused on the copper, iron and sodium content and turbidity (color or clarity) of the water, he said.

According to Water General's testing, Hancock said, Andover's water contains iron and sodium levels above DEQE standards, and turbidity is "a problem."

Water General could not be reached for comment; the company's telephone number has been disconnected.

The DEQE data Water General used was two years out of date, Kubit says; the most recent state tests were done in January 1983. He notes that most of the ten "worst" water supplies came from towns that rely on local groundwater supplies, and many of those communities have built water treatment plants since 1981, which would improve their water quality.

Andover's Lowell Street water treatment plant was built some ten years ago to treat water from Haggett's Pond and Fish Brook.

According to the state engineer, Andover's iron content tested at .04 mg/l (milligrams per liter, or parts per million) in 1983, and at 0 in 1981. The DEQE recommended limit is .3 mg/l, higher than Andover's iron content.

Nor does DEQE data back up the Water General findings on turbidity: The state has set a level of 1.0 mg/l, but Andover water tested at .1 this year — ten times lower than the state limit — and at .2 two years ago, a level that Kubit terms "fine."

(Turbidity does not present a health hazard, he explains, but merely measures the amount of dirt present in water. Chlorine is added to water to kill bacteria, and too much dirt can prevent the chlorine from reaching the bacteria.)

However, Andover's sodium level is high, the town manager admits. But both the DEQE engineer and DPW director maintain that in this case, "high" is a relative term.

Kubit said that this year, the town's sodi-

She was one of 2,000 talented young artists from across the United States to audition for 85 positions at this summer long program in the Berkshires.

Burke is a student at Andover High School. Under music director, Keith Gould, she is a member of Madrigals, Handbell Choir and Acapella. Burke has been seen in the Andover Community Theater productions of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" and "Pippin."

Johnson has been studying British politics and governmental structure at Lawrence's London Study Center. In his free time and during vacation breaks, he traveled to Northern Ireland, the Republic of Ireland, Denmark, West Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy and France.

Since enrolling as a member of the class of 1985, Johnson has received two varsity football letters while playing for the 1981 Midwest Conference Champion Lawrence Vikings and is a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

He is a Government major, preparing himself for a career in broadcast journalism. Johnson is the son of John L. Johnson, Jr., 2 Cyr Circle, and Joan M. Johnson, 11 Moraine St., Andover, and a 1981 graduate of Andover High School.

Dedication Activities Planned

A special Dedication Committee is planning opening celebrations for the J. Everett Collins Performing Arts Center now nearing completion at Andover High School, and the School Committee this week endorsed that committee's activities.

The committee's plans for the formal dedication ceremonies on Sept. 25 are top secret for the moment, but the school committee Tuesday night hinted that those plans are rather spectacular.

The dedication committee plans to start fund-raising now that it has the school committee's formal endorsement, Superintendent Kenneth Seifert indicated. School committee Chairman

Richard Neal added that the selectmen and town manager are also in favor of the dedication activities that are being planned.

Contracts Rather Than Tenure Supported

The Andover School Committee will support proposed legislation that would permit school committees to enter into employment contracts with school administrators and supervisors rather than grant those employees tenure, the committee decided this week.

The committee Tuesday night voted unanimously to support a resolution proposing such legislation during the upcoming annual Massachusetts Association of School Committees (MASC) delegate assembly. Last month the Mansfield public schools asked for the Andover committee's support for the legislation.

Committee members indicated that state laws concerning tenure for administrators are currently "very rigid," and the new legislation would give school committees more "options."

Chairman Richard Neal said he believed the legislation would represent "a step forward in the educational field," but he also emphasized that it would not jeopardize the "due process afforded to (administrators and supervisors) by law." The law now includes "safeguards" to protect school employees, and the proposed law "would not be taking away those safeguards," Neal said.

Selectmen Planners In Session

Both the Board of Selectmen and the Planning Board will hold regular meetings next week.

The selectmen will discuss parking on North Main Street, a recent fatal pedestrian accident on North Main Street and the Bradlee School during their 7:30 meeting at Town Hall Monday night.

And the planners will meet at the Essex Street theatre building at 7:30 Tuesday night to continue a public hearing on problems at the Olympic Village subdivision off Woburn and River streets. They will hold a public hearing on a proposed one-lot subdivision off Smithshire Estates and Castle Heights as well.

Riverfest At Deer Jump Next Week

Next weekend Andover will host this year's Riverfest, held by the Merrimack Valley Watershed Council each year to celebrate the revitalization of the Merrimack River and "the return of the salmon and the shad."

The festival will be held Saturday (with a Sunday rain date) at the Andover Village Improvement Society (AVIS) Deer Jump Reservation off River Road, and the Board of Selectmen have formally proclaimed Saturday Riverfest Day.

With their proclamation, the selectmen encourage townspeople to participate in the day's events, which will include an informal decorated boat parade and other boating activities.

AVIS, the Merrimack Valley Arts League and the Greater Lowell Regatta Festival are among the area organizations taking part in the festival.

Town Picnic Rescheduled To June 26

The department of community services has rescheduled its town-wide picnic to Sunday, June 26, from 2 to 6 p.m. at Pumps Pond. This second annual picnic will include big band music, family events, water races and special low prices at the concession stand.

PHS Class Of '33 To Observe Jubilee

The Punchard High School Class of 1933 will observe their golden jubilee reunion on Saturday, June 25, at the Lanam Club, 260 North Main St., at 6 p.m.

Notices have been sent to all members and attempt are being made to determine the whereabouts of Betty Bliss, Harry Meadowcroft, Albert Ratte, Wesley Cilley, Wallace Rennie and Shirley Kemp Cassidy. Anyone who can help with information concerning the above should contact James D. Doherty or Josephine Daly Lawson.

A committee headed by class president David L. Nicoll is planning a full program and confirmations have already been received from classmates in California, Connecticut, New Jersey, Maine and New Hampshire.

Planning The Fourth

Andover's Committee for Patriotic Observances met this past week to review plans for the annual town Fourth of July festivities. From left, Cheryl Francis, Barbara Surdam, Clara Wade, Kathryn Brooks, Dana Shattuck, Bob Schmidt, chairman and Judy Shattuck.

Fourth Observance Planned

Once again Andover will celebrate Independence Day with Old Fashioned Fourth of July festivities.

Last year's resumption of the annual observance through the efforts of Peter Anderson, run on a shoestring, proved so successful, that the committee members remaining after Anderson's departure felt the tradition should continue.

Like last year's this year's observance will be patterned after the Andover Independence Day celebrations of the 1880's and 1890's.

The horribles parade will again be featured, offering opportunity to young and old alike to march in a parade specializing in everything from decorated bicycles, doll carriages, pets and outrageous costumes. Prizes will be awarded not only to participants, but to best entries in various categories.

Plans call for the day to get off to an early start with an all-town pancake breakfast. Following the horribles parade at noon, an afternoon of amusement and fun will be offered at The Park, concluded by a Grand Finale concert by the Middlesex Concert Band.

The community services department will have games throughout the afternoon, such as pie eating contests, three-legged races, etc.

Continuous entertainment will be offered by The Great Scott, magician; Trent Arterbury, mime and Ken Serbure, juggler.

Local service organizations will provide food and treats throughout the afternoon at reasonable prices.

The committee includes Clara Wade, Barbara Surdam, Cheryl Francis, Kathy Brooks, John Givens, Bob Schmidt, chairman and newcomers this year, Dana and Judy Shattuck.

Post Office Avenue building being upgraded

Post Office Avenue Getting A Facelift

Bayfield Company, Inc., a real estate development and management firm based in Andover, has begun work on a facelift of commercial buildings on Post Office Avenue in the town's commercial district. The changes are intended to make shopping a more pleasant experience for customers of restaurants and gift shops located on the small, shopper-oriented way.

The renovations to numbers 10-16 Post Office Avenue include facade upgrading and restoration, a coordinated color scheme and design and new signage.

Bayfield property manager, Lynne Wentworth, thinks the changes will benefit local merchants by increasing pedestrian traffic on the street. "The facade improvements and coordinated design will recreate the original turn-of-the-century appearance that is characteristic of most of Andover's downtown," says Wentworth. She also thinks that professional office space in the area will become very desirable and points to the recent lease of space to an advertising agency and magazine, as an example.

Construction has started on one building with completion of the entire street scheduled for the fall.

Electric Co. Offers Rebate

To promote energy conservation this summer, Mass. Electric is offering conservation rebates for customers who purchase energy efficient room air conditioners.

Mass. Electric will give residential customers a $60 rebate for window or wall air conditioning units purchased between May and June 20, 1983. The units must be energy efficient models with an Energy Efficiency Rating (EER) of 8.5 or higher. The EER measures how efficiently the unit uses electricity. The higher the EER rating, the more efficient the unit. The more efficient the unit, the less electricity required for cooling.

Mass. Electric residential customers who are interested in taking advantage of this offer should contact local Mass. Electric offices or Ms. Sally Savage, Mass. Electric, 25 Research Drive, Westborough, Mass. 01581, for more information and a rebate application form.

Studio To Observe Anniversary

This week the Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio in Olde Andover Village is celebrating the anniversary of their fourth year in business in our town.

Opened in 1979 by owners Barbara Elliott and Judy Fazioli after extensive training in Los Angeles, the Andover studio is one of 2500 Merle Norman stores throughout the United States and Canada. Although a major force in the cosmetics world, Merle Norman did not strongly enter the New England market until about five years ago. The products are not available through the usual drug or department stores. They can only be purchased at a Merle Norman Studio. The Merle Norman method teaches each customer to be a makeup artist in her own right, tells her the insiders' tricks and shows her how to make the most of her own special attributes.

The public is invited to join Barbara and Judy at their anniversary sale celebration this weekend, from Thursday, June 9 to Saturday, June 11 when they will be assisted by Beauty Advisors Pat Dubasak and Annabella Modigliani.

Because of the inclement weather on Saturday, June 4, the March of Dimes Fifth Annual Canoe Race will be held Saturday, June 11, starting at McCarthy Mountain (the Lawrence Incinerator off Marston Street-Training School Road) and ending at the Crescent Yacht Club, Haverhill. Preregistration is held at the March of Dimes daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or evening by appointment. Registration on Saturday is at 7:30 a.m.; race starts at 8:30 a.m.

Puppets Aid Youngsters Cope With Divorce

By Sue Aucella Deacon

"The Divorce in the Castle," a puppet play improvised by a group of Bancroft School third- and fourth-graders, stars a girl puppet and a boy puppet, the children of a king and queen who battle ceaselessly.

During the half-hour play, the children deny to the village villain that their parents fight, then run away from the castle to escape the truth. But they learn that running away solves nothing and return home, where they find that their parents have gone to divorce court.

In court, a judge puppet awards custody of the boy to the queen, and of the girl to the king. "I guess it's a happy ending," the girl puppet offers.

Two West Elementary fifth-graders are working on a puppet play about a "divorce spell" cast by a devil on two once-happy parents. The parent puppets begin to fight and end up in divorce court.

The two young puppeteers aren't yet sure how their play will end, but say the parents will probably get divorced — and later remarry. The puppets they chose to play the parents' two children were the only ones they could find "without smiles on their faces," the students explain.

"The divorce rate has tripled in the last 20 years," according to Mary Gendler, who originated the puppet shows and has become known as "the divorce lady" among Andover schoolchildren. "It is an epidemic. Kids do not understand it, and they do not have control."

Eleanor Murz, head of the school adjustment counseling program, adds that "the impact of divorce is enormous on children — it should never be underestimated. It's a difficult situation for children."

Mrs. Gendler, an Andover resident for 13 years and the mother of two teenagers, began what is known only as "the divorce program" in the Andover schools four years ago. She began by teaching an inservice education program for teachers called "Teaching Children of Divorce," which grew into a course for teachers on dealing with family problems.

Mary then began training high school peer counselors — students trained to counsel other students — to lead children of divorced parents in workshop groups. (Peer counselors are now paired in "marvelous combination" with an adult counselor, Mrs. Gendler or a guidance or social counselor, to work with the groups.) Funding from a state grant helped the program continue, and during the past two years Mary has worked at the schools as a volunteer as part of her doctoral studies at Boston University; she is working toward a degree in counseling psychology.

Children join the groups only at their parents' request, and this year the program has included about 35 children who meet in small groups at three of the four elementary schools. (It was offered at the junior high schools last year, but dropped this year due to staffing cuts; Mrs. Murz says there is some chance that it may be offered at the junior highs again next year.)

Mrs. Gendler's role in the divorce program is coming to an end: She will not return next fall. But she hopes the program, which was recently profiled on NBC-TV's Nightly News, will continue. She notes that it has won "terrific support" from the school administration.

The student groups meet weekly, usually during lunch hours or after school, to share a variety of activities: drawing, discussing the legal technicalities of divorce and their ideas and feelings about divorce, role playing.

Looking for ideas for new activities last year, Mary brought in her large collection of hand puppets, and "the kids just loved it. When they started working on puppet plays, I realized how fascinated they were — it was really serving as a medium for the kids to indirectly talk about their own concerns and get their feelings out."

The play made up by the West students illustrates two common themes, she points out: the idea of a divorce brought on by an evil outside force (in this case, the devil), and the ultimate happy ending. "Most of the plays end in happily-ever-after. They're expressing their fantasies of getting their parents back together."

And in developing a play, the children often "work through an issue and come up with their own solutions," Mary says. Running away is a "major theme" of discussion among the groups, for example, but when the Bancroft students concluded in their play that running away was a bad idea, "it was a surprise to me," she says.

The Bancroft play's ambiguous closing ("I guess it's a happy ending") is also a good sign that the students are "more in touch with reality" than a brighter ending might indicate, she notes.

The students create their puppet plays verbally; they never produce a formal script. Mary videotapes the plays so the students can later watch and discuss them together. The Bancroft students' play was shown to the entire third grade at the school this spring.

What are the problems that children bring to the divorce groups? "There's a lot of confusion about what's going on — sometimes they just need information," she explains. "They have feelings that they haven't found a place to express, like anger, which comes out in the puppet plays. And they have real-life problems with continuing uproars in the family. Sometimes there are joyful things to share, too — a student will come in and announce, 'My father's coming to visit this weekend.'"

"They may have dilemmas, like being caught between two parents, and the other children will help them think up solutions. They develop a friendship network — it's really quite amazing. And there's a lot of real therapy that goes on, especially with the puppets. These are support groups — the children release feelings, sort out confusion, learn to talk with their parents."

Eleanor Murz agrees that many children in the group "get a great deal out of it. They have a great deal in common," and just finding someone to talk to can help, she says. "Frequently they're very glad to know, and surprised to know, that there are other children in the same situation."

A "big issue" in the groups she has worked with: "the divorced parents' new partners — the new boyfriend or new stepmother," Mrs. Murz says. She notes that that is "an easy thing for kids to talk about."

Mary Gendler

They tend to be angry and resentful.

"There is also an underlying sadness and sense of loss that these children find very hard to talk about," she adds. "I definitely feel they are helped by this process, by the emotional support that lets them express feelings."

Some children join the group years after their parents' divorce because they feel "for me it was a long time ago, but I want to help other kids," Mrs. Gendler says. "They honestly join with that intention. It's a very lovely thing to see." (She believes that children of divorce often learn to become more sensitive to others' feelings because "they have to be so cued in to their parents' feelings.")

"Along the way," those children may deal with some of their own leftover feelings about divorce, she says — and the high-school peer counselors often experience the same "clarifying." Most are from divorced families, and working with the groups can "clear up a lot of things for them," Mary has found.

And the peer counselors "really love being helpers and having direct, weekly contact with young children. And the children love having an older kid there."

She has watched children change as they work with their group. "Some come in very quiet, sort of uptight, and I've watched them become more assertive, more aggressive — which doesn't always seem like an improvement, but it is. I tell parents that sometimes what seems worse is really better."

"I have seen the changes in two little boys who were angry, angry, angry for most of this year. And last week, for the first time, they started being a little bit sweet and gentle — and it was so exquisite to see. Enough had been worked through that they could start being a little softer."

Parents have also reported that their children begin to talk to them more openly — and start doing better schoolwork. Teachers also recognize changes, Mrs. Murz says. Even for one second-grade group that responded poorly to the puppet-show idea this year, "just belonging to the group was somehow meaningful to them," the counselor says.

She points out that many children participate in the program for one year and then don't seem to need it any longer. "A lot of kids get their problems behind them in one year," Mary agrees. "They're finished with it, talked out, and they don't want to talk about it any more."

Children learn about the program through teachers or guidance counselors; sometimes it is announced in the classroom. And sometimes children send their friends to the divorce lady for help. Some children let a group help them through the actual divorce, Mrs. Gendler says, but for others that period is too painful, Mrs. Murz points out: they may want to wait a few months before joining a group.

The program isn't right for every child of divorce, and it isn't the only choice for them in the Andover school system, Mrs. Murz says. "It's the greatest help to kids with good coping skills. It gets them through a crisis in their lives."

"We try to offer a range of services for children from divorced families. The groups are a very important part, but we

Kevin Leahy

Puppets

also work with individual families and individual children."

That a child is especially troubled may be revealed within a group, Mrs. Gendler points out: "It's a way to find a kid who really needs more help, but who otherwise might not be found."

She believes that divorce today is "not just an isolated problem. Divorce is a societal problem. I think we all need to talk about it. All children are worried, every time their parents have a fight, that they will get a divorce — and fifty percent of them could turn out to be right. Kids are walking around with a big bundle of anxiety, and there's no place for them to talk about it."

The happy endings in their puppet plays reflect children's fantasies, Mary Gendler says, even when those children understand that their parents will never reunite.

"That wish doesn't go away," she explains. "And many of them will arrange their lives, using enormous amounts of psychic energy, worrying about the family and unconsciously trying to find ways to get their parents back together."

Despite that "very sobering" truth, the children in Andover's divorce program "look happy and healthy. They're not disturbed, they have friends," she says. And in fact they are lively, laughing, talkative. "But inside, they're carrying a scar."

West Entertains at Academy Manor

The sixth grade students at West Elementary School sang songs from their class show for their last visit this past week to Academy Manor Nursing Home before the school year ends. They have visited the nursing home throughout the year and in appreciation of their efforts the administrator of the nursing home, David Solomont, presented the school with a black and white television to be enjoyed by the students. Photos clockwise from top: The children are presented the television set from Mr. Solomont; Victor Spanpinato, of the Academy Manor nursing home enjoys the concert; Mr. Solomont speaks with students James Spinelli, 6 Mulberry Circle, and Paul Demarco, 1 Mulberry Circle, and their teacher Mrs. Helen Caplan.

West PTO Reviews Activities

At a combined buffet and board meeting of the West Elementary PTO on June 2, a gavel tied to flowers changed from the hands of Gail Nichols, president, to Diana Gould, president-elect for 1983-84. The gavel was engraved and becomes part of all succeeding presidents' paraphernalia.

Nichols presided over her last board meeting for the current school year. The old business portion of the agenda brought various efforts to a tidy close. Sharin Luti reported that her computer committee cooperated with media program advisor Annetta Freedman, computer program leader Charlotte Lynch and other teachers over the selection of computer software and related materials. The PTO board approved the expenditure of more than $1,000 for these items.

Young Audiences, the last of four students' cultural events sponsored by the PTO, was reported scheduled for June 15. Other presentations had included Aesop's Fables, Mother Goose and Ozzie Osborn's "Flippers and Flukes."

Nichols pointed out that fifth and sixth graders had recently hosted a PTO sponsored field day of track events, inviting students from two other communities to participate. She also reported that the "whirl," a newly purchased piece of playground equipment would be installed during the summer.

Linda Cassily reported on plans for Class Day on June 22, a celebration for sixth graders about to end their elementary school days.

During a coffee break, portfolios were exchanged. Gould then opened the meeting to new business and ideas, looking ahead to the fall.

Day Camp Conducts Contest

Camp Y-Wood, the Greater Lawrence YWCA day for girls on Captain's Pond, Salem, N.H., is celebrating its 25th birthday this summer. To celebrate, the YWCA is sponsoring an essay contest on the theme, "Why I'm Glad I'm a Girl," to be written in 50 words or less. A two-week camp scholarship will be given to the girl writing the best essay from Andover. Entries stating age, address and telephone should be mailed to the Greater Lawrence YWCA Y-Wood Contest, 38 Lawrence St., Lawrence, MA 01844. Deadline is June 23 and essays will be judged by the camp senior counselors.

The camp has been directed by Evelyn Retelle of Andover since its founding. She has fostered the theme of developing leadership in the camp girls. Many have gone from campers to staff members through the years. The Fluet girls of Andover have been connected with Camp Y-Wood and Rachel Fluet will be a waterfront counselor this summer. Other Andover staff members are Gretchen Munn, assistant waterfront director, and Brenda Craig, junior counselor in crafts.

For further information about the camp, call the Lawrence YWCA.

Regis Club

The Regis Club of Greater Lawrence will meet at Markey's in Seabrook, N.H. on June 15 at 6 p.m.

All members interested in attending, contact Pat Sullivan of Andover. New members are welcome.

Studied In France

Allison Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Webster, 5 Tamy's Lane, Andover, recently traveled to France as part of a Short Term unit offered by Maine's Bates College where she is finishing her junior year.

Led by associate professor of French Richard Williamson, 21 Bates students are completing a trip which includes three weeks in Avignon and 10 days in Paris. Students stayed with local families in Avignon, a city in southern France which at one time was the seat of the Papacy, and attended conversation classes taught by area professors. Paris afforded the group another opportunity to sample French culture and history.

Nearly 950 of 1,425 undergraduates at the Lewiston, Maine, liberal arts college have enrolled in the five-week Short Term program, which follows the second semester and allows for intensive study in one area. Classes are over for the rest of the students, giving them an early jump on summer employment.

A variety of educational experiences are available during short term, including internships, travel aboard, field work and independent study. Among the off-campus units offered this year are intensive language and culture studies in Germany and Spain, Buddhism in southern Asia, race relations in New York City and the impact of metal mining in Ontario, Canada.

Additional studies include Maine coastal geology and archaeology, computing, surrealism in the cinema and internships at area social service organizations, hospitals and government.

Scholarship Drive Is Underway

A scholarship drive to fund the Rev. James F. McNulty, O.S.A. Scholarship is underway.

The scholarship was established last by friends of the late Rev. McNulty, a former Andover resident and nationally known spiritual author and expert in preaching and retreat work. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. McNulty, are long-time residents of Andover at 200 Elm St.

Through the scholarship, $1,000 is awarded annually to one or more full-time students of Merrimack College who are members of St. Augustine's Parish in Andover. Selected by a committee from St. Augustine's, the recipients are chosen on the basis of need and merit.

Last year Sandra J. Moore, 39 Rattlesnake Road, and Christopher P. Valcourt, 46 Red Springs Road, were recipients of the scholarship.

Contributions may be sent to The McNulty Scholarship Fund at St. Augustine's in Andover.

Those interested in applying for the scholarship should contact Rev. Richard T. O'Leary, O.S.A., at St. Augustine's.

Volunteer Services Honored

The Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A. has announced Beth Geddes as volunteer of the month for June.

Geddes, a mother of seven, began volunteering at the "Y" in 1977 when she saw a notice in the volunteer program and offered to be a dance instructor. She has received training in, and taught, gymnastics, swimming, dance aerobics and parent/child gym classes.

The feeling of accomplishment, chance to make friends and a feeling of belonging—to be a real part of the "Y"—are all reasons why Geddes volunteers.

Her feelings on volunteerism carry over to her family. Her husband, Bill, and children, Kathy, Patti-Anne, Billy and Meg, also volunteer at the "Y."

This summer the "Y" is offering volunteer opportunities for youth and adults. Further information may be obtained from Cathy Dawson at the "Y."

Pluto is no longer the most distant planet from the sun. In 1978, it and Neptune exchanged places. They change again in March, 1999.

'Eye Ball' Benefits Lions' Eye Research

The Andover Lions Club, under the direction of chairman Philip Wilet, is sponsoring the first annual "Eye Ball" Friday, June 17, at the Lanam Club in Andover from 7 p.m. to midnight. Dancing will be to the music of the John Charles Orchestra with an extensive hot and cold buffet served throughout the evening. Tickers are available to the public and may be obtained by calling Arthur Lafond or John Simko.

Currently in their 28th year of service to the Andover community, the Andover Lions Club intends to establish the "Eye Ball" as an annual charitable fund raiser for eye and eye-related injuries, illnesses and research. Funds generated from this ball will be presented to Lawrence General and Bon Secours Hospitals for their use in the area of visual needs.

The Andover Lions Club is one of more than 50 clubs in their district which last year raised over $130,000 for eye research. Traditionally a portion of all funds raised are presented locally, with the balance being forwarded to the district for further distribution to such places as Children's Hospital and Mass. Eye and Ear. Funds are also directed towards kidney disease, which frequently causes major visual impairment or blindness.

The Andover Lions meet at 6:30 p.m. on the first and third Monday of the month from September through June at Valles' Steak House in Andover. Anyone interested in joining as a regular member are invited to contact one of the individuals named above.

Slades is a member of the Andover Artists Guild, the Merrimack Valley Art Association and the Newburyport Art Association and has exhibited in Andover, North Andover and Cape Cod. She is well known for her portraits of private homes and local buildings and has won prizes for her watercolors at Newburyport.

Cornell is her alma mater and she has studied art in Boston at Massachusetts College of Art and the Art Institute of Boston. Locally, she has studied with Cory Staid, Jane Trumbone and David Millard.

Kifner is a member of the Andover Artists Guild and a former member of the Newburyport Art Association.

Formerly a resident of New York, she has been represented in galleries in Buffalo, Westchester County and New York City.

She is known locally as a teacher and painter and has exhibited in Andover, North Andover and Lowell. The Newburyport Art Association awarded her a first prize in watercolor and she also won first prize in the Merrimack River contest, besides many awards in New York.

Young In Methuen Concert

Lawrence A. Young will present a recital on the old Boston Music Hall organ at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall on Wednesday, June 15, 8:30 p.m.

Young studied organ with John Ogasapian, Fenner Douglass, Jack Fisher and Heinrich Fleischer. He received his Bachelor of Music degree from Boston University in 1971 and Doctor of Musical Arts degree from the University of Minnesota in 1977. He is a free-lance organist in the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul and a computer programmer for Republic Airlines in Minneapolis.

His recital program will include: Prelude and Fugue in e minor, BWV 548, Johann Sebastian Bach; Fugue in a-flat minor, Johannes Brahms; Fantasy and Fugue on the name BACH, Max Reger; Prelude, adagio et Choral varie sue le theme du "Veni Creator," Maurice Durufle; Partita on "St. Anne," Paul Manz.

The organ, constructed by E.F. Walcker of Ludwigsburg, Germany, was originally in the Boston Music Hall. The instrument was acquired in 1897 by Edward F. Searles and brought to Methuen. Serlo Hall, as the great brick structure built by Searles to house the organ was called, was finished in 1909. During his ownership, the organ became rather isolated to the musical community, as few visitors were able to hear the instrument. Following his death in 1920, the ownership of the property passed through various hands. In April 1946, a group of citizens of Methuen acquired title to the hall and organ and established a permanent corporation to preserve and maintain them as a civic and cultural center.

The Music Hall is located on Broadway (Route 28), Methuen and off-street parking is provided beside the building.

David Carrier will be organist on June 22.

Singers Workshop Announced

fall. In its seventh consecutive year, this year's summer program will be held from Aug. 15-19 at the Union Congregational Church, North Reading Center. Candidates for membership in the Treble Chorus must attend the workshop.

Andover Residents, Firm Honored By Institute

Two individuals and two local companies were honored at the tenth Annual Immigrant City Awards luncheon, sponsored by the International Institute of Greater Lawrence, Inc., on Wednesday at the la Chandelie in Methuen.

Caroline Bridgeman Rees, Janyce Sagaser, both of Andover, Digital Equipment Corporation, Andover, and the Andrew Wilson Company in Lawrence received the awards which are given annually to those making significant contributions to the welfare of ethnic and minority groups in Greater Lawrence.

Rees is recognized for her major contributions and work on behalf of the Vietnamese "Boat People" who arrived in the Lawrence area during 1979 and 1980. She gave countless hours and limitless energy coordinating volunteers, finding apartments, acquiring furniture and transporting newcomers from Logan airport to their new homes. "Caroline is one of those unique individuals who can communicate with any non-English speaking person without the need of language. She was essential to the success of our resettlement program," stated David Rodger, previous director of the International Institute.

Sagaser has worked with the limited and non-English speaking residents of greater Lawrence for many years. She has taught many Spanish, Chinese-Vietnamese and Polish speaking adults their first English sentences. She was very involved in working with the Indo-Chinese refugees. Sagaser has also volunteered her time and energies to the institute's summer English camp for Vietnamese children in grades one through six. "She is the most generous, caring person I have ever known," says Judith Nadreau, institute ESL coordinator. "Her sincerity is easily picked up by the refugees who are fortunate enough to have her."

Andover Digital, new to Greater Lawrence, has had an immediate impact on refugees and minority groups in this area. DEC has provided employment opportunities for refugees and Hispanics. At Christmas time, many refugee families ate their first turkey dinner, a gift from Digital. Recently, the institute acquired a DECmate computer to improve services to minority clients. Digital has provided training and necessary software to assist in making institute programs more effective.

Since 1912 the Andrew Wilson Company has provided jobs for the foreign born. A manufacturer of commercial, industrial and library shelving and bookstacks, the company presently has more than 15 different nationalities represented among its 200 employees.

A family-owned business, the Wilson family of Andover has played an exemplary role in reflecting the rich multi-cultural diversity of Immigrant City. In quiet, understated ways the Wilson family, through its business, has provided incentives and support to all the immigrant groups who have made Lawrence their home.

Summer Program At Y.M.C.A.

Boys and girls entering grades one through six, will be able to participate in a unique summer program at the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A., 165 Haverhill St., Andover. Two programs, "Good-Time Gang" for Grades 1-3, and "Adventure Club" for Grades 4-6, will meet Monday-Friday, beginning July 5, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for four two-week sessions. Children may be registered for two, three, four or five days per week each session.

"We are concerned with meeting the social, mental and physical needs of youngsters in this age group," said Y.M.C.A. physical director Bob Lavoie who will be coordinator of the programs. "Our daily peer-group activities will attempt to meet these needs and, most importantly, allow the children to have fun."

The "Y" building features a six-lane indoor swimming pool, a double-sized gymnasium, a 40'x45' padded matroom, outdoor play areas, fields and hiking trails. The program will include low-organizational games, instructional and recreational swimming, arts and crafts, nature hikes, group activities, films, beach trip for the older age group, special events and a cookout on the last Friday of each two-week session.

Registration begins June 13 for Full Privilege Members, June 14 for Basic members and June 16 for non-members. For further information, contact Lavoie at the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A.

Veteran Counselor Retiring; Athletic Director Takes Leave

The retirement of a veteran guidance counselor and physical education teacher, as well as a leave of absence for the athletic program advisor, were approved by the School Committee Tuesday night during a regular meeting at the Shawsheen School.

Andover High School guidance counselor William Igoe will retire this month after serving in the school system since September 1953, and phys. ed. teacher Katherine E. McCarthy will retire after serving in Andover since September 1959.

School Committee Chairman Richard Neal and Superintendent Kenneth Seifert commended and thanked the two educators for their contributions over the years. Seifert noted that "no person has done a more thorough job of getting students jobs" than Igoe, and he called McCarthy "a professional physical education educator of the highest standards." The committee accepted both retirements with regret.

Richard Swift, physical education and athletics program advisor, will take a leave of absence next year for personal reasons, with the committee's approval. Swift has been employed by the schools since September 1963.

Also approved by the committee: the resignation of Carol Lake, a Sanborn School teacher of the perceptually handicapped, who has been in the school department since September 1979. Lake is moving out of state.

And the committee approved the appointment of Josephine Walker of Andover as a West Elementary teacher, bachelor's, step 2, to replace D. Hudson, who has been granted a year's leave of absence.

They also approved the election to tenure, effective Sept. 1, of Priscilla Barney, psychologist; Teresa Consentino, elementary art; Alice Friedenson, secondary math; Linda Isaacs, high school German; Patricia Kasper, high school art; Susan McLellan, secondary math; Debra Orr, high school food management; Lynne Shapiro, secondary math; Stephen Tisbert, West Jr. High industrial arts; and William Kolbe, West Jr. High Spanish.

Second re-elections, effective July 1: Mary Jennings, high school principal, at $40,253; Daniel LeClerc, social studies program advisor, $30,339; James Murphy, math program advisor, $30,657; and Rita Petrella, science program advisor, $30,339.

Second re-election, effective Sept. 1: Joan White, Doherty Jr. High resource room.

First re-election, effective July 1: Kathleen Scanlon, language arts program advisor, $28,936.

First re-elections, effective Sept. 1: Stephen Heimlich, instrumental music; Jeffrey Leonard, instrumental music; Grace Pettoruto, West Elementary learning disabilities; Mary Pitochelli, high school learning disabilities; Christine Tatum, instrumental music; and Janet Wolbarst, West Jr. High art.

Elections effective Sept. 1: Gwen Meins, Doherty Jr. High self-contained perceptually handicapped class, master's, step 6; and Karen Sayward, South music, bachelor's, step 5.

And the committee approved the termination, effective midnight June 30, of ten school maintenance workers who will join the staff of the newly-created Municipal Maintenance department as of July 1: James Brightney, Harry Burgess, Carmen Consoli, Thomas Doucette, Carl Finley, Frank Lynch, Arthur Najem, Kenneth Parker, Louis Polianites, and Roger Roux. The new department will take over maintenance responsibilities for all school and town property.

Reichhold Earnings Increase

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. reported that earnings per share increased 32 percent in the first quarter while sales declined 14 percent. The company also announced plans to retire one of its two outstanding preferred issues.

Sales in the first quarter were $178,501,000 which compares with $206,697,000 in the prior year's period. Net income, available for common, was $3,439,000, or 50¢ per share versus $2,602,000, or 38¢ per share in the first quarter of 1982.

C. Robert Powell, chairman and chief executive officer, said the increased earnings were a result of the company's divestiture program and the elimination of non-contributing businesses with their related expenses plus improved operating efficiencies. He noted that sales of continuing operations declined seven percent.

Powell also announced that Reichhold would redeem the remaining 30,000 outstanding shares of its $100 par value Preferred "B" issue during the second quarter of 1983. He characterized the preferred stock as high-priced debt which the company is anxious to eliminate.

In his remarks to shareholders, Powell indicated that a major reorganization of the company begun last year was beginning to impact earnings positively.

Significant improvements were as follows:

Unprofitable businesses disposed of or shut down in 1982 reduced corporate sales by $50 million, but eliminated 30¢ per share in continuing losses.

The company's raw material to selling price ratio has been reduced from 65.2 percent during 1981 to 59.5 percent during the first quarter of 1983.

Inventories and trade receivables were reduced by $42 million during 1982, reflecting better control of inventories and accounts receivable as a result of the company's new divisional structure.

The additional funds generated by these operational improvements allow Reichhold to significantly increase its budget for research and development and plant modernization and to fund the proposed $20 million acquisition of Du Pont's vinyl acetate/ethylene emulsion business.

In the only formal business to come before the meeting, shareholders voted to reelect three directors to three-year terms on the board.

Academic Probation Possibility For Students Failing To Perform

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Next year, Andover students performing below par in the classroom may find themselves on "academic probation," according to a new plan discussed by the School Committee this week.

Committee member Susan Poore Tuesday night proposed developing standards for academic probation to help "get the message across" to students that they are expected to "achieve academic proficiency."

She did not submit specific ideas for academic probation, suggesting that the administration and faculty come back to the committee with a detailed proposal for discussion. But Poore said that just as students are now excluded from sports activities when their grades fall, they might be excluded from other school activities as well.

"The primary purpose is to serve as a stimulus to the ones who might need some motivation to work a little harder," she explained. Students would be placed on academic probation to warn them that they are in a "dangerous" situation, she said, and should "as quickly as possible move back to a situation on the par with everyone else."

Poore said she has seen academic probation "well-administered" in private schools, and although it might be difficult to administer in public schools, it is "very much in line with what we're trying to foster" in Andover's schools.

She asked that the administration try to "set up the framework" for the plan in time for next fall.

Committee members Michael Giammusso and Donald Robb endorsed the plan: "The whole idea makes a great deal of sense," Giammusso said.

Robb added that it should not be limited to the high school, but could be extended, in some form, to the lower grades as well. And he recommended that the focus remain on academic excellence so that the concept is not "a negative thing."

Robb also suggested that parent advisory councils be included in planning the new procedure.

Superintendent Kenneth Seifert also agreed that Poore had presented "a very good idea." He suggested that end-of-the-year exams for sixth, ninth and twelfth-graders might be one way to monitor academic achievement.

And he recommended that a "separate category" be reserved for students who do not want to be in school and suffer "attitudinal" problems; those students consume a great deal of administrative time and energy, he said. Poore said a distinction must be maintained between students with discipline problems and those with academic problems: the two "shouldn't be equated," she said.

Plans for academic probation must be submitted for state approval by August if probation is to become school policy in time for the next school year, Seifert noted.

School Committee Hears About Year's Hits And Misses

The school superintendent chronicled a mixed bag of hits and misses Tuesday night as he reviewed his efforts to meet goals set by the School Committee, as well as his own goals, for the past school year.

Superintendent Kenneth Seifert this week summarized for the committee his success at accomplishing goals set by the committee in their annual "direction letter" last fall, along with his personal goals.

Seifert also summarized ideas for the future that teachers and administrators have presented to the committee in recent weeks.

Among the hits: an extensive review of the elementary school curriculum and organization showed that the elementary schools are "doing well," Seifert said — but subsequent reductions in elementary aide time may change that, he added.

Doherty Junior High enjoyed an "excellent" opening last fall, and new media centers at West Junior High and Andover High were also successfully completed.

Procedures for keeping track of school finances "have come a long way" under the direction of Business Manager Francis Paul.

The superintendent has established good relations with the town manager, particularly important because town and school offices will soon be consolidated at the former East Junior High.

And labor negotiations have been conducted in "an environment of very fine give-and-take," even though negotiations are "never pleasant," Seifert said.

And among the misses: Seifert's "least-achieved" goal was to become involved in a special project at every school. That plan, designed to help him keep in touch with what is happening in the schools, "petered out" after an initial effort at three schools, he said. He promised to "pay much more attention" to it next year.

The stability and morale of the teaching staff remains shaky as Proposition 2½ continues "taking its toll" with staff and budget cuts, the superintendent said. But despite a sometimes "pessimistic environment," the staff still managed to respond to a call for new ideas for the future with enthusiasm, he added.

A plan to have each school submit quarterly and periodic reports was abandoned after the first half of the year because "organizational problems" made the effort outweigh the benefits, Seifert said.

And while a week-long inservice education program on drug and alcohol abuse was "well-received" by teachers, and students organized a chapter of Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD), drug and alcohol abuse remains a "monumental problem" for the schools, the superintendent said.

Moving to a summary of ideas for the future, organized into plans for the elementary and secondary schools, Seifert described ideas that will be implemented throughout the system: plans for student computer projects that are "progressing quite well"; plans for using the new high school performing arts center, which could have a "profound" impact on the entire system; plans for educational programming on the new cable television system, which he said holds "tremendous potential" for school use.

And, as at recent committee discussions of the future, the superintendent once again stressed the need to commit funds to research and development if new ideas are to flourish: "We have gone about as far as we can go with the resources that we have," Seifert said. "There is a point where you can't make it better with less."

Commenting on Seifert's report, Chairman Richard Neal noted that recent revisions to the committee policy on drug and alcohol abuse have largely removed the committee from disciplinary procedures — leaving the committee feeling it has "lost contact with the scope of the problem." He said the committee would like "some indication of how effective the new approaches have been."

And committee member Susan Poore added that at times, the committee has felt it is "losing contact as a group" with the school system. She suggested that the committee consider appointing liaisons to all the standing committees that are working on behalf of the school committee.

Neal noted that in the past, the committee has handed its goals to the administration in the form of a yearly direction letter, and the superintendent has then set his own goals independently. He suggested that this year, the committee and administration work together during the committee's July meeting to produce a set of "mutual" goals.

Street Of Flags Spurs Memorial Park Plans

With the 'Street of Memorial Flags' proving successful and impressive during the Memorial Day weekend, the Patriotic Holiday committee is preparing to hoist the memorials again on Flag Day next week, as well as plan for the creation of a Memorial Park in Elm Square.

Veterans Services Director John Lewis said this week that additional flags have been presented and recorded bringing the total number to 114 as of Tuesday.

Plans for the park call for using the green area behind the former location of the police box at North Main and High streets. Approval for the memorial has been given by the town manager and the plans are currently on the drawing board to create a memorial to all veterans.

When a sketch is ready, additional information will be provided as well as plans for a public fund drive to make the memorial more meaningful.

Additional donations for the Street of Flags fund are still being accepted and needed in order to fabricate the holders and other equipment for the flags. It is anticipated that by Veterans Day in November, the tribute may be able to reach the Shawsheen area, depending on the number of additional flags received.

The following memorial flags have recently been donated:

Harris, Chapell Honored

Retired Selectman Col. Edward M. Harris and Center Association Chairman Richard E. Chapell were honored by the Andover Chamber of Commerce at its annual dinner meeting last Thursday night at Indian Ridge Country Club.

Col. Harris was presented the Community Service Award and Chapell the President's Award by retiring Chamber President Mary M. Doherty.

Bruce S. Moody, incoming president, addressed the gathering, telling of his intent to have the chamber more visible and active in the community in the year ahead.

In presenting the community service award, President Doherty noted the contribution of Col. Harris to the life of the Andover community through his participation in Bicentennial activities and two terms on the board of selectmen. Also cited was his contribution to national service through his career in the U.S. Army following graduation from West Point and his activity as a member of the faculty at Phillips Academy.

Harris responded appreciatively to the chamber for the recognition.

Chapell was honored for his efforts on behalf of the downtown business community as head of the Canter Association, as well as his other contributions to the total chamber effort.

Also honored was Madeleine C. Abati, executive director of the Andover Chamber, who was presented a gift in appreciation of her work with the local organization as well as her 25 years with the Greater Lawrence Chamber, with which the Andover group is affiliated.

Frank Orlandella, chamber vice president, served as master of ceremonies for the affair, with Selectman William Dalton bringing the greetings of the town and J. Eric Bornhofft, Greater Lawrence chamber president, extending the greetings from that group.

Bruce S. Moody

Registration fee includes lunch. The purpose of the workshop is to present information from both staff and students about the Andover Peer Counseling Project, which includes tutoring, big brother/big sister, divorce groups, drop-in center, the CONNECTION (drama group), peer pressure, parent-teen evening programs and a 15-week course called Communication Training. The workshop will assist participants in planning and developing their own peer helper programs.

"The Acid Rain Crisis: Time Is Running Out"

By Rep. Sue Tucker

It is a quiet enemy. It has no immediate health effects on humans. It does not burn the skin. Its destruction is not easily detected by the untrained eye.

Yet, the controversial and increasingly publicized problem of acid rain represents one of the most pressing and threatening environmental crises of the latter 20th Century—one that will continue unabated into the next century unless major corrective steps are taken during the 1980s.

For New England, and Massachusetts in particular, curtailing the level of acidic rainfall must constitute a top governmental priority if irreversible environmental and structural damage is to be avoided.

The polluting smokestacks of Midwestern industry have been cited as major contributors to New England's acid-rain woes. Prevailing winds are believed to carry toxic, acidic emissions from the factories of the Ohio River valley to the skies over New England and Canada, where the pollutants return to earth in the form of acid-laden rain, snow, dew and even fog.

Coordinated state and federal action is needed to deal with these distant out-of-state pollution sources. Gov. Michael Dukakis met with federal environmental officials earlier this year, urging such action. While the Reagan Administration's record on addressing the acid-rain problem has been sluggish at best, it now appears the administration might pursue a more active approach, especially with the recent naming of environmentally conscious William Ruckelshaus as the new chief of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Several bills proposed in Congress would require industrial polluters to install scrubbers and other devices to reduce smokestack emissions. Coal-burning electric utility companies oppose such requirements, arguing that the net result will be higher utility bills for consumers and a substantial loss of jobs in the Midwestern and Appalachian coal industry. (Coal from these areas is high in sulfur, a major component of acid rain. Tougher federal emissions regulations might force utilities and factories to switch to Western U.S. coal, which is lower in sulfur content).

While it is important that residents of Massachusetts and the other New England states urge their representatives and senators in Congress to support acid-rain legislation, action at the state level is equally critical. The federal Clean Air Act of 1970 (amended in 1977) gives state and local governments the responsibility for carrying out State Implementation Plans for controlling air pollution in individual states.

Massachusetts is fortunate to have a state agency (the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering) whose staff and commissioner (Anthon Cortez) are sincerely ded-

The Public Forum

Appreciative Of Help

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

You see so much in today's papers on the bad things that happen.

I would like you to write a "thank you" note in your paper. My car broke down on Rte. 495 and I had what I thought a forced stay in your town of four days. Well, everybody was so nice to me it was a pleasure to be there, one that I will never forget. The staff at the Sheraton Rolling Green Inn was very nice and helpful. But the biggest honor must go to the local taxi owned by Mr. George Doran.

I am a senior citizen and was traveling alone from Maine to Pennsylvania. I was caught off guard and not fully prepared for such a delay. Thanks to the many good folks of Andover, my concern was calmed and my faith lifted.

Would you please do the best you can to let these people know how much I thank them.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — June 1908

Chief of Police Pomeroy had his automobile trap out Sunday and as a result, warrants have been issued for three or four of the speedy drivers. Complaints have been made that a number of boys or young men have been warning the autoists of the existence of the trap and some of them have been reprimanded for this offense.

William H. Higgins has sold his fine horse Loring H. to a Boston gentleman, the president of the Beacon Trust Co. Loring H. is one of the fastest horses in this part of the state and besides his speed he is exceedingly clever and gentle and was a great favorite with local people. Mr. Higgins has also sold a fine pair of cobs to a party in Newport, R.I.

The chances for a Fourth of July celebration seem very slight indeed unless a great deal more interest is taken in it than has been shown at the recent meetings. The enthusiasm seems lacking this year for some reason or other, and if the citizens do not get together and hustle for the next two weeks the celebration will necessarily be dropped.

50 Years Ago — June 1933

One new teacher will have to be appointed for Punchard high school as the result of increased enrollment for the coming year, it was revealed at the school committee meeting last Tuesday evening. The enrollment is expected to be not less than 450, whereas the present seating capacity is only 410.

A total of $1,612.44 has been spent this year on local charity work by the students of Phillips academy through the medium of their meatless meal plan. This plan was developed by the boys alone in an effort to help out Andover's unemployment situation last fall.

Andover is to have a real Fourth of July once again, according to plans formed at the meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the Musgrove building Monday evening. The new band, which received much favorable comment in its initial appearance Memorial Day, will be one of the features, and tomorrow a tag day will be conducted for the benefit of this group.

25 Years Ago — June 1958

A joint meeting of representatives of the Planning Board, Board of Public Works, School Committee and Board of Health June 17 will discuss tentative plans of the Realty Construction and Engineering Co. for close to 300 homes in the town. The firm, headed by Judge A. Sartorelli, owns more than 30 acres off Elm street, in the Westwind road section and larger acreage in West Andover off Lovejoy road.

Nearly 50 parents of youngsters who will enter the South School kindergarten next fall made a strong plea to the School Committee Tuesday night to provide round-trip transportation for the children. The School Committee this year ruled that kindergarten pupils, on double sessions in every school, may be transported to school in the morning and back home at the close of school in the afternoon. In effect, this means the kindergarten pupils will get one-way transportation — either to school in the morning or from school in the afternoon.

Sixteen Andover stores will close Mondays starting June 16 for the remainder of the summer. Normal opening-closing hours will prevail on other days of the week —including the evening shopping hours on Fridays.

10 Years Ago — June 1973

The Andover school system is losing Richard Neal, West Junior High's assistant principal, to Westford, which has elected him principal of Westford's North Middle School, for grades six, seven and eight. "I hate to leave the Andover schools," Neal told the Townsman, "but I'm interested in the middle school concept and in being a principal, particularly after my year of being an acting principal at West Junior High."

The Superior Court has upheld a lower court ruling and ordered a building permit issued for the construction of the Ninety-Nine lounge on Lowell Street. In a decision filed by Judge John F. Moriarty in Superior Court, the findings of Judge Joseph F. Bacigalupo in Lawrence District Court were affirmed, in that the court ruled the Andover Board of Appeals acted improperly in denying a permit to the petitioners to rebuild the lounge after a fire and subsequent collapse destroyed the premises.

Postmaster Francis J. Mooney, who has been a member of the U.S. Postal Service for over 36 years, will retire on June 29. He was appointed to his present post by the late President John F. Kennedy on June 13, 1963.

Elm Square Protest

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The new traffic lights at Andover Square and at the junction of Main and Chestnut Streets allow the motorist greater visibility on the changing red and green signals. Now the vehicular circulation is off to faster starts because of the very brief interval of the yellow light, with no combination of the red and yellow in evidence these past several weeks for the walking public—an increasingly endangered species recently in Andover.

In nearby Lawrence, one can observe the considerable improvement in traffic control along busy Essex Street. There, in startling contrast, the concern for the poor pedestrian has not been forgotten. Provision has been made for Walk signals at the touch of a button—a device not in evidence on the sturdy corner posts in Andover's business district.

It may be that others have wondered at the above cited intersections on their chances of crossing on foot in a race with a motor vehicle going through on yellow on Main Street, or making a turn on to the central thoroughfare at the quick changing of the lights.

Some less likely to wonder are at their peril, namely the heedless young and those slowed down by age.

I write to protest the too long trial period of fast moving traffic, with seeming unconcern by the authorities for the safety of the pedestrians.

JACK ANDERSON AND JOE SPEAR

WEEKLY SPECIAL

New book says India's Desai was a paid CIA informantBy Jack Anderson and Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — Have you ever wondered about the CIA's fabled sources? Have you ever suspected that maybe they are just cab drivers in Cairo or bartenders in Bangkok?

Some are, perhaps, but not all. One of the agency's most valuable informants in the early 1970s was a man who later became prime minister of India. He was paid $20,000 a year by the CIA, and Henry Kissinger considered him a valuable "asset" to the United States.

Who was this high-ranking, well-paid CIA operative? His name is Morarji Desai. He is now in his 80s and is still one of India's best known and most prominent politicians.

The revelation that Desai was a paid CIA informant comes in a book published a few days ago. It's called "The Price of Power," and it's about the years former Secretary of State Kissinger spent formulating policy for the Nixon administration.

The author is Seymour Hersh, who won a Pulitzer Prize for exposing the My Lai massacre in Vietnam. We've known Hersh as a first-rate investigative reporter and competitor for years. Here's the story of the high-level CIA spy that he uncovered.

Back in 1971, India and Pakistan went to war over Bangladesh. We wrote a series of reports telling how President Nixon and Kissinger had ordered a "tilt" toward Pakistan. This was at a time when the Pakistan army was slaughtering thousands of innocent men, women and children in Bangladesh.

We knew why Kissinger had engineered the tilt toward Pakistan. It was because he had information that Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was planning to annex Bangladesh. Our intelligence sources told us that Kissinger's information came from a reliable source within the Indian government. But our sources didn't know who it was.

Now Sy Hersh has solved the mystery. His four years of research on Henry Kissinger's days of glory uncovered Morarji Desai as the CIA's source.

Although Desai was getting paid $20,000 a year by the agency, his inside information was all wet. India won the war with Pakistan but Indira Gandhi did not annex Bangladesh.

Several years later, Gandhi was defeated and Desai became prime minister of India. We now wonder if the CIA contributed to its star performer's campaign.

FEEBLE CRACKDOWN: As part of President Reagan's crackdown on drug trafficking, the State Department has been trying to convince our South American neighbors to stem the flow of illicit drugs to the United States. But our sources say the diplomats don't have their hearts in the task and haven't been too successful.

Indeed, confidential Drug Enforcement Administration documents reveal that cocaine traffic from Colombia is increasing rapidly. That nation now devotes 10 times more acres to the production of cocaine than it did just two years ago. The situations in Peru and Bolivia are much the same.

Other government agencies are having better luck, however. Law enforcement officials have seized an enormous number of cars, boats and planes that were being used to transport illegal drugs into the United States. In fact, the federal government is swamped with such contraband.

A still-secret study compiled by General Accounting Office investigators discloses that the government agencies are ill-equipped to store and care for the fancy cars, boats and aircraft used by high-spending smugglers. While in storage, the various vehicles have been stolen, vandalized and just plain neglected.

As usual, the taxpayers lose in the end. This time, it is because tens of millions of dollars are being lost every year due to the reduced value of the confiscated goods.

FOIA FOUL-UP: The Reagan administration has done its best to gut the Freedom of Information Act — the landmark law that gives Americans access to government information. Now, federal investigators have determined that the Justice Department — the agency that advises other agencies how to comply with the act — can't even manage its own FOIA requests properly.

Outrageously high fees have been demanded, for example, to discourage citizens from seeking too much information, a policy that is clearly contrary to the law. An internal Justice Department report completed three years ago recommended that the agency update its compliance procedures and increase staff for processing requests. None of these suggestions have been followed.

In at least 11 cases, Justice Department officials waited over a year to tell citizens that the records they requested were unavailable.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: Intelligence sources say that Soviet citizens often witness launchings of missiles and satellites from secret bases. When the sightings are reported, the witnesses are told they have seen unidentified flying objects.

— Thanks to technological advances and increased demand, many institutions are getting into the financial services business. This has created a problem for the Federal Reserve Board, which has been trying to come up with a definition for the word "bank."

Kitchen Design

When bathroom space is at a premium, compartmentalizing each fixture provides maximum utility. Often, for privacy, the toilet, itself, can be partitioned off from the rest of the room. In this way, two people can use the room at the same time and its efficiency is increased. Partitioning can be done with solid wall construction, dividers, sliding screens or other structures. Compartmentalizing a bathroom can also extend its use to include a washer-dryer area. In this case, existing water lines can be economically connected to the laundry equipment.

We here at WINDSOR KITCHENS have the product knowledge as well as the design expertise to use every inch of your bathroom to its advantage and the smaller the space the more essential this knowledge and expertise can be. The effort we put into the design is proudly shown in the finished work and we look forward to making your dream bath or kitchen a reality. You will find us on Rte. 125 in Ward Hill, 1/2 mile north of Western Electric where we are open Mon-Thurs 9-5:30, Fri 9-8, Sat 9-4 or phone 372-3444 for an evening appt.

Andover Gold Opens With Win

By Rick Harrison

Run-scoring basehits by Scott Deery and Larry Aiello broke up a superb pitcher's duel between righthanders Mark Doherty and Rob Carpentier, lifting the Andover Gold Babe Ruth baseball team to a season-opening 3-1 triumph over intra-town rival Andover Blue last Sunday in Greater-Lawrence League action at the Phillips-Andover Academy field.

Both Doherty and Carpentier worked the distance on the mound, with Doherty scattering five hits and Carpentier allowing just three. Doherty struck out six and walked four, one intentionally, while Carpentier fanned 10 batters and issued just one walk.

Andover Gold, the two-time defending regular season and playoff champion and a 17-2 winner over the Methuen Babe Ruth Lions (3-0 in their league) in a recent non-league encounter, fell behind 1-0 in the top of the first as Blue notched an unearned run.

John Nuzzo lashed a one-out single for the Blue, Jeff Penner beat out a bunt single, and when the throw to first went astray Nuzzo scored and Penner moved all the way to third base.

Ted Cormier followed with a sharp grounder to shortstop, and Gold's Chris Colsia cut down Penner trying to score on the play as catcher Shane Smith made a fine play at the plate to hold onto the ball. Smith then gunned down Cormier trying to steal to end the inning.

Gold bounced back to a 1-1 tie in the bottom of the second, as Mark Doherty led off with a gigantic triple to leftfield and Scott Deery smacked the first pitch up the middle for an RBI single.

Deery was sacrificed to second by Larry Aiello, but Carpentier bore down to retire the next two hitters on a flyball to centerfield and a strikeout.

Doherty worked his way out of major jams in the fourth and fifth with some gutsy pitching.

In the fourth Jeff Penner and Ted Cormier led with a looping single to rightfield and a sharp grounder to leftfield respectively. Doherty whiffed the next batter, got the second out with a force at third on a tapper to the mound, and completed the comeback by striking out the next hitter.

With two down in the Blue fifth Rob DiTroia walked, John Nuzzo slapped his second single, and with a 2-0 count on Penner he was walked intentionally to load the bases.

Cormier and Doherty then battled for several pitches before Cormier was retired on a long flyball to leftfielder Scott Deery.

Gold went ahead 2-1 in the bottom of the fifth with an unearned run. Chris Colsia drew a leadoff walk, Earl Abdo bunted him to second, he took third when Kevin Rourke's grounder was misplayed, and scored when an attempted pickoff throw to first went astray.

The insurance run came in the sixth as Shane Smith was hit by a pitch, took second on a hit-and-run groundout by Deery, and scored when Larry Aiello lashed a double to centerfield.

Doherty finished the game strongly, retiring Blue 1-2-3 in the seventh and striking out two of the batters.

Gold had an outstanding game defensively as a team. Kurt Burzlaff made a sensational diving catch down the rightfield line to rob Nick Lembo in the second, Scott Deery had a pair of clutch catches in leftfield, second baseman Leo Gravell handled five chances flawlessly, Chris Colsia made two key plays at shortstop, and Shane Smith did an outstanding job behind the plate.

Penner finished the game 2-for-2 and Nuzzo went 2-for-3 to pace the Blue offense.

Gold had other games scheduled against South Lawrence East and South Lawrence West (1-0) this week, while Blue was slated to play South Lawrence West last night.

Netmen Qualify For Tourney

The Andover High School boys tennis team completed their biggest week as they qualified for the state tournament and moved into first place in the Merrimack Valley Conference. State tournament pairings were announced and Andover was granted the fourth seed in the 17-team draw.

Andover's top players are Freshman Jeff Chiang, who is unbeaten at the first singles position and has not lost more than five games in a match this season. His personal record on the season is 15-0. Whitney Bailey, also a freshman, was 5-0 at first doubles before moving up to the second singles slot where he has gone 8-1 (two of those victories came at first singles). His only loss was a tough three-set match against Methuen's Glen Grillo. Third singles player Gregg Eaton was 2-6 as he played the first eight matches at second singles. He then played first doubles where he was 2-1 before moving up to third singles where he has gone 4-1. The first doubles team is presently Dave Bates and Tom Kannam. Bates is 14-2 at first doubles while Kannam is 4-1. Kannam was 3-0 at second doubles and 6-3 in singles. The second doubles team is Mark Perlowski and Steve Perlberg. Perlowski has gone 11-1 at that position, 2-1 at first doubles and 1-0 in singles. Perlberg is 11-1 at second doubles, 1-1 at first doubles and 1-1 in singles. Other varsity players are: Tod Deery, 4-0 in doubles, 1-1 in singles; Damon Dyer, 1-1 in doubles, 1-0 in singles; Jeff Kennedy, 2-1 in doubles; and Billy Bruno 1-0 in doubles.

Monday, May 23, Andover avenged their last loss of the season, a 3-2 defeat at the hands of Central Catholic by shutting out the Red Raiders 5-0. The victory qualified them for state tournament play.

Cancer Treatment

A study conducted at Boston's Dana-Farber Cancer Institute suggests that patients with advanced squamous cell cancers of the head and neck may benefit from treatment employing intensive chemotherapy prior to surgery and/or radiation.

A drug combination of cis-platinum, bleomycin and methotrexate-leucovorin reduced tumors to at least half their original size in 88 percent of 93 patients evaluated in a study. In approximately 25 percent of the patients, the tumors completely disappeared.

According to Thomas J. Ervin, M.D. assistant professor of medicine at the Farber Institute, patients with advanced cancer of the head and neck often experience spread to the regional lymph nodes. In the past, radiation and surgery, either alone or in combination, were unsuccessful in curing a large percentage of patients with such advanced disease. "We decided to administer chemotherapy prior to radiation and surgery so we could see how much tumor shrinkage actually occurred. Although tumor shrinkage does not indicate complete eradication of all the cancer cells," Dr. Ervin said, "a large proportion are eliminated."

Tigers 17 - Red Sox 0

The Tigers started the second half of the season with an explosion and the Red Sox were the unfortunate victims. All three parts of the Tigers' arsenal worked to perfection with superb pitching, defense and offense.

Steve Howes pitched four shutout innings with the final two innings going to George Bilger who was equally impressive.

Defensively, shortstop Sean "Ozzie" Ryan made many fine plays as did second baseman Mike Hein and Howes.

Offensive standouts were: Doug Howes (2 singles, walk), Paul Salafia (single, double), Steve Howes (first HR, double, single, 2 walks), Sean Ryan (3 walks), Mike Hein (double, first hit, walk), Jose Guerra (double, single, walk), Mike Tiberii (2 walks), Peter Van Olinda (single, walk) and Steve Knight (2 walks).

Andrew Weiner handled the pitching chores for the Red Sox with relief help from Jeremy Gibson.

Chris Landers, Kevin Foley and Paul Lembo had hits and Lembo and Weiner played well defensively.

Orioles 6 - White Sox 5

It was Mike Smith's night as the Orioles defeated the White Sox 6-5 in a competitive contest. Smith, Oriole third baseman, collected four base hits, including a double, knocked in four runs and scored a fifth.

The Orioles opened the game with a Hugh Maginnis single. Brett Hammond reached on a fielder's choice and Smith delivered Hammond with a sharp single to right. The Sox evened the score when Peter Kannam singled and scored on a single by Chris Eggert. In the third the White Sox took a 2-1 lead on a Mike DiStefano triple and a sacrifice fly by Eggert. Oriole leftfielder Jay Busby made a fine catch on the play.

The Sox never gave up as they rallied for three runs in the sixth. A Maginnis wild streak, followed by Kannam and Eggert singles, brought them to within one run of tying the game. Oriole pitching was shared by Hammond and Maginnis (3-0) while Eggert went the distance for the Sox.

Tigers 16 - Indians 4

The Tigers team exploded for 16 runs before the Indians could plate their only runs in the final innings.

Steve Howes set off the explosion with a triple, three-run homerun and a grand slam home run and 8 RBIs. Brother Doug had a double, two singles and an RBI. Paul Salafia had 2 doubles, walk, 3 RBIs. Dave Sopp had a single, Mike Hein had 2 walks, single, 1 RBI. Steve Knight had 1 walk, 1 RBI and George Bilger had a single, walk and 2 RBIs.

Mike Hein pitched three shutout innings for the Tigers, recording seven strikeouts, followed by Sean Ryan who pitched two scoreless innings fanning four Indians. Dave Sopp completed pitching chores by mopping up the last inning.

The defensive play of the game was made by Tiger centerfielder Doug Howes who made a diving catch of a sinking line drive.

Indian batting stars were Derek Camarota (double, single), James Spinelli (double), Bryan Smith (single), John Pike (single), John Glynn (single) and Stephen Spinelli (2 walks).

Defensive standouts were Camarota and shortstop Matt Pothier.

Michael Lebreck, Todd Roycroft and Smith handled the pitching. Smith struck out four Tigers in his two innings pitched.

Red Sox 3 - Yankees 1

Shortstop Andy Weiner's two-run double in the bottom of the fifth inning drove in Danny Fay and Jeremy Gibson with the winning runs as the Red Sox upset the Yankees 3-1 in one of the season's best played games.

The contest was highlighted by the five-hit, 13 strikeout pitching performance of Sox lefty, Kevin Foley. He was outstanding, going the distance, twice pitching out of bases-loaded situations in the first and in the fifth.

The Sox went ahead in the bottom of the first as Fay singled sharply to center, advanced on Gibson's long sacrifice fly and scored on Foley's long single to left. The Yankees came right back to tie things up in the second on back-to-back hits by the Davies brothers, Brian and John. The game stayed tied until the winning outburst by the Sox in the fifth when Fay singled to right, Gibson beat out an infield hit and Weiner delivered his clutch blow.

Jose Malitsky went the distance for the Yanks, giving up six hits, striking out three and walking one. Yank hitters were Malitsky, the Davies brothers, Pat Breen and Geoff Schaake, the latter with his first major league hit.

Sox hitters were Fay, Gibson, Foley, Weiner and Landers. Defensive play of the game was by Yankee outfielder Steve Liaw who backpeddled to haul in a long drive off the bat of Gibson in the third. Sox catcher Fay turned in his finest defensive outing of the season behind the plate.

Tigers 2 - Twins 1

Superb pitching and defense highlighted this ten-inning victory for the Tigers.

The Twins scored their only run in the fifth inning when Chris Lane singled and scored when Keith Abernathy's long fly to rightfield was misplayed.

The only Tiger run was scored by Steve Howes on a delayed steal when brother, Doug, advanced to second base.

The winning run was scored in the bottom of the 10th inning when Jose Guerra walked, Dave Sopp singled and Sean Ryan walked to load the bases with no outs. Mike Hein was then hit by a wild pitch to force in the winning run.

Offensive standouts for the Tigers were Ian O'Neal (double, single), Steve Howes (double, single, walk), Doug Howes (3 walks), Jose Guerra (2 walks), Dave Sopp (single, 3 walks). For the Twins: Todd Musterait (3 singles), Chris Lane (single, walk), Peter Radulski (single), Jason LaPointe (single) and Andy Arnott (single).

Tigers' pitching stars were O'Neal (8 strikeouts) and Hein (4 strikeouts); Twins pitchers were Musterait, Abernathy (10 strikeouts) and Douglas Bruk.

Yankees 6 - Indians 3

The Yankees jumped to a 6-0 lead over the Indians on Sunday, but then had to hang on at the end to earn a 6-3 victory. They combined six hits and three walks for their runs while the Indians received eight walks to go along with three hits for their runs. Leading the Yankees were Pat Breen who went 3-for-3, including two doubles, Sean Bergan who also collected two doubles and David Jaye who chipped in a single. The Indians were led by Matt Pothier, John Glynn and Todd Roycroft, each getting one hit.

Defensively for the Yankees, Bergan and Steve Liaw made a couple very nice plays in the outfield. James Spinelli played a strong game at third base for the Indians. Breen and Liaw hand the Yankees' pitching, Breen pitching four strong innings, giving up only one hit while striking out 10 batters. Liaw made his initial appearance on the mound this year and pitched very well, giving up only two hits. Glynn pitched a strong game for the Indians, giving up only six hits.

Twins 8 - Red Sox 7

Excellent relief pitching by Jerome Guerard put a stop to the Red Sox hitting attack after they had taken an early 6-3 lead. The Twins' comeback as paced by Peter Radulski who had three hits, including a last inning triple to drive in the go-ahead run. Scott Livermore and Kurt Brucato also had key hits.

The Red Sox were led defensively by the steady play of Andy Weiner who was also on base four straight times. Chris McAnally led the Twins with several outstanding defensive plays.

Twins 13 - Orioles 3

Paced by solid pitching by Chris Lane, Scott Livermore and Keith Abernathy, the twins continued their win streak to five games by besting the Orioles 13-3. Doug Bbruk slammed his first Little League homer while Pete Radulski chipped in a double and a triple to lead the offensive attack. Todd Musterait has three hits, two doubles and a triple.

The Orioles' game featured two super catches, one by Jay Busby to share a Twins' rally, the other by Michael D'Angelo to take a sure hit away from Chris McAnally who hit for two doubles and a single for his second three-hit effort in as many games.

The Twins are now 2 and 0 in the second half standing, 6 and 5 overall.

Mets 8 - Cardinals

In their best effort of the season, the Mets rudely ended the Cards' nine-game winning streak. Ace Mike Troy held the big bats of the Cards to five hits in notching his sixth win. Errorless defense was the difference as outfielders Jeff Lazzarino and Ricky Pass stunned the crowd with awesome catches. A ten-hit attack against Cards' stopper Mark Russell was led by Andy Shea with three safeties. Troy and Bo Wilmer added two hits each. Mark Angelos and Chris Stout belted timely run-producing singles. For the losers Sean Gill hit safely twice and Barry Connors continued his long-ball hitting. This key win leaves four teams in a battle for the second half title.

Dodgers 8 - Pirates 5

David Blank pitched the route to get the win over hard-luck Pirate Curt Solomon who continued his extra-base hitting with two hits, including a double. A.J. Boutin and Kyle Murphy also stroked two-baggers. Steve McSweeney maintained his lofty batting average with two hits for the winners and Matt Adams and Joey Lyons impressed offensively. Jon Maldon drove in the winning run. Defensive stars were Pat Finn and Glenn Farnham.

Dodgers 2 - Cubs 1

This game featured excellent individual effort by players on both squads. The Pete Adams' charges parlayed a key sacrifice bunt by Steve Caltagerone and heads-up base running by Todd Allard and Steve McSweeney to produce two runs in the third. Glenn Farnham drove in the winner. Dukie McNamara was the defensive star. Cubs ace John Russell stifled the winners on the mound (three-hitter) and homered for the only run. Centerfielder Shawn Darwin had four fine catches to frustrate the Dodgers.

Cardinals 11 - Pirates 1

The front-running Cards combined solid pitching and timely hitting to record the win. Barry Connors and Jason Proctor split the hurling chores allowing only two hits while whiffing six. Matt Dufresne and Scott Lanouette managed the Pirates' hits. A three-run homer in the first by Mark Russell salted the game away early. Phil Romano continued his aggressive clubbing with three hits and Russell and Brent Raftery added two safeties each. Defensive stars were Curt Solomon and Kevin Lyons.

Mets 11 - Dodgers 10

In this continuation of a regulation-tied game from the first half of the season, the Dodgers quickly had runners on second and third due to two Mets' errors, but Mike Troy fanned the next batter and David Tucker made a super catch off Joey Lyons to end the inning. In their half, Jeff Lazzarino walked, Andy Shea singled, Troy walked and Tucker singled to win the game. The win boosted the Mets' first-half record to 7-2.

Mets 9 - Dodgers 3

The Mets again rode the arms of Mike Troy and Bo Wilmer to boost their second half record to 3-1. They allowed only six hits, including a towering homer by Henry Prussman and a pair of doubles by Matt Adams. Andy Shea had a perfect day with two hits and two walks and Jeff Lazzarino hit safely twice. The tilt was highlighted by several defensive gems.

especially Steffan Tomlinson at third for the Mets and Eric Guzowski in right field for the losers. The Mets jumped on starter Joey Lyons for seven early runs and played good defense to earn the win. The Dodgers record falls to 2-2.

On The Soccer Fields

By She Livermore

Rain washed out the In-Town Program last weekend, but most of the Essex County teams were able to complete the schedule mid-week and on Sunday. One Andover team, the Strikers, won their division with a 9-0-1 record and will compete for the Essex County championship this weekend at Topsfield against Lynn. Brief results of the games follow:

Under 19 Division

Andover Strikers 3

Lynnfield Soccer Club 1

The Strikers took an early lead when Steve Carbone found the range on a pass from Kurt Oliver. Bill Martin made it 2-0 when he scored on a pass from Carbone and Tom Powers completed the scoring with the assist going to John Hevehan. Lynnfield denied the shutout in the second half, giving the Strikers a 3-1 victory. If the Strikers win the Essex County Championship this weekend, they will compete in the state playoffs on June 16.

Under 16 Division

Andover United 4

Topsfield United 1

Andover United were well prepared for their rematch with arch-rival Topsfield who beat them 4-1 in the first game of the season. Early in the game Topsfield attacked and made some excellent shots on net, all blocked by goalie David Bartle who turned in his finest performance of the season. United then pressed and following a scramble in front of the net, Paul Hevehan put them on the scoreboard. This was soon followed by a David Keene-penalty shot, set up by John Drake. In the second half Mike Hardock made it 3-1 on a pass from Paul McAdam, and David Workman completed United's triumph with a beautiful long shot from the side which sailed into the net to the surprise of the goalie. This loss ended Topsfield's hopes of competing for the Essex County Championship. BOW: Coaches Barry Tucker and John McAdam.

Andover Booters 0

Saugus No Names 3

Andover Booters 0

Marblehead Rowdies 3

The Booters gave the undefeated Saugus team some anxious moments as the defense repelled the numerous attacks by the forward line throughout the contest. Indeed, the Booters held the edge as far as offensive play goes. Saugus finally did penetrate the defense and scored three quick goals to take the hard-fought victory. BOW: Crystal Hunt, Bonnie Taylor and Beth Finnegan.

The Marblehead Rowdies held the edge and the fullbacks worked hard to get the ball out of the goal area throughout the match. Marblehead did succeed in three of their shots, denied the Booters any successful shots on their net and won 3-0. BOW: Karin Mesler, Lauren Pickard and goalie Lisa Deeran for some fine defensive work.

Andover Twisters 4

Salem Sweethearts 0

The play was pretty even in the first half although the Twisters penetrated the Salem defense on one occasion to take the lead with a goal by Ronnie Kovner. In the second half Andover pressed throughout and added three more goals, kicked in by Maura Dunn off a corner kick by Kovner, Bethany Hughes on a pass by Allison Reghitta and Dunn

Exhibit To Open

On May 12, the USS Constitution Museum will open "Isaac Hull, A Forgotten American Hero." This major new exhibition is built around a stunning collection of artifacts that belonged to Captain Hull when as commander of USS Constitution he met and defeated the British frigate Guerriere in the early days of the War of 1812 - to the enormous surprise and consternation of the British!

"It's my opinion that the less said about a brilliant act, the better," Isaac Hull wrote to the Secretary of the Navy in September of 1812 following his brilliant victory. Hull's triumph was the talk of two continents, the subject of countless songs, plays, poems and broadsides. Congress voted Hull a gold medal and his officers silver ones. Captain and crew were instant celebrities, feted in a national display of congratulation.

Under 14 Division

Andover Rattlers 3

Danvers Panthers 3

Danvers took an early lead, but Bobby Hughes tied it up for the Rattlers with an unassisted goal. Lukas Wennik made it 2-1 when he scored on a pass from Mike Schwartz. Early in the second half Eric Buchholz found the range and the Rattlers led 3-1. Danvers came back with two more, however, and the game ended in a hard-fought 3-3 tie. BOW: Gary Ziegler, Eric Buchholz and John Gemmell.

Andover Titans 1

Marblehead Chargers 12

Andover Titans 10

Ipswich Strikers 0

With only ten players on hand (the team lost one of those in the second half), the Titans were overwhelmed by a strong Marblehead lineup bent on breaking the record for number of goals scored in a single game. They tallied five in the first half and added seven more in the second. Andover did not give up and denied the shutout when Billy Ernesto Martin scored on a pass by Greg Kinsky. BOW: Rick Banzi, Jeff Abrams, Andrew Warren and Mike Winters.

Two days later the Titans avenged their lopsided defeat by trying for their own record of total goals scored against a less experienced Ipswich lineup. Andover tallied three goals in the first half and added seven more in the second while denying the competition any successful shots on their net. Scoring were Billy Ernesto Martin (4), Sam Sankar (2), Thomas Tormey (2), Scott MacIntire and Rick Banzi; credits for assists went to MacIntire, Banzi, Tormey, Sankar and Mike Nelligan. BOW: Casey Pant, Patrick Burns, Andrew Warren and Paul Kenny.

Andover Sharks 3

Marblehead Raiders 2

Marblehead pressed early and were awarded a penalty kick, blocked by goalie Matt Corbett. They continued their attack and took the lead 1-0. In the second half Marblehead made it 2-0, however, the Sharks came alive, tied it up when Scott Frieze scored on a penalty kick and Brian Costello kicked one in unassisted, and won the victory with a goal by Corbett in the closing moments of play. BOW: Mark Peters and J.B. Burgess.

Andover Buccaneers 13

Danvers Sharks 1

The Buccaneers showed no mercy when they played Danvers and kicked in a total of 13 goals while allowing the Sharks only one successful shot on their net. Scoring were Jim Sullivan (5), Matt Young (5), Stephane Kirkland, Doug Bleszinski and Matt McKinnon; assisting were Bleszinski, Kirkland, Young, Sullivan and Jules Maderos. BOW: Jules Maderos, Matt Young, Frank Padellaro and Stephane Kirkland.

Andover Sting 1

The shape of the North Andover field had some effect on the outcome of the game. In the first half, playing downhill, Andover took the lead when Kim Wagner scored; North Andover tied it up. In the second half, playing uphill, the Blasters found the going tougher, but the competition obviously quite at home, kicked in three goals to win them the 4-1 victory. BOW: Allison Vaill and Jennifer Kovner.

The Marblehead Sting took an early lead, but the Blasters tied it up when Kim Anderson found the range on a pass from Laurie Habeeb. In the second half Krissie Carothers made it 2-1 when she scored on a fine pass from Merri Puglia. Marblehead came back with one more towards the end of the game to make it a 2-2 tie. BOW: Denise Morey and Merri Puglia.

Andover Avengers 1

Swampscott scored early to take the lead. In the second half Sharon Petzold tied it up when she scored on a fine pass from Kim Wilkins. At first singles Chiang defeated Vic Capozzi 6-3, 6-1. Bailey downed Mark Ford 6-0, 6-4 at second singles. At third singles Eaton defeated Ani Mullick 3-6, 6-1, 6-0. Bates and Kannam defeated Jason Bourgault and Mike Simard 6-2, 7-6 at first doubles and Perowski and Perlberg revenged an earlier loss by defeating Cliff Farrah and Joe Lemay 6-4, 6-3.

In warm and sunny weather on Wednesday the Golden Warriors travelled to Chelmsford to battle the first-place team in the MVC. Chelmsford was 14-1, Andover 14-2, with the lone Chelmsford loss being a 4-1 defeat at the hands of the Golden Warriors. Andover needed the win to move into sole possession of first place and a guarantee of at least a share of the MVC crown at the end of the regular season. Chiang looked awesome as he defeated John Hallal 6-1, 6-0. Bailey got off to a very slow start but came back to defeat Ted Hayes 3-6, 6-4, 6-4. Eaton put in a Herculean effort as he defeated Brian Douglass in the first set 6-3, lost the second set 7-5 and was down 4-2 and 40-5 in the third set. He fought back to take the seventh game and the next three to nail down the win. Bates and Kannam lost a great match to Jim Brown and Paul Pisecco 7-5, 7-5. Perowski and Perlberg looked very strong in defeating Mike Wilson and Brian O'Sullivan 6-3, 5-7, 6-3. Andover moved to 15-2, Chelmsford to 14-2 and the Blue and Gold was in first place by 1/2 of a point.

Coach Brian McNally, in his second season at the helm, is looking forward to guiding his team into state competition. "We're playing very strong as a team right now. Naturally, we've lost a great deal of practice time due to the rain, but so has everyone else in the area. It took a few weeks to come up with the lineup we now have, but I feel the chemistry of this lineup is the strongest of any this season, we're tough in all five positions."

THE $11,000 PRICE TAG IS COMMON. WHAT'S UNUSUAL IS THE CAR YOU GET FOR IT.

By now, car shoppers have resigned themselves to paying upwards of $11,000 for even an ordinary car.

This is unfortunate. Also unnecessary. Because for about the same money, they could have an extraordinary car: the Saab 900.

The Saab 900 has everything the name would suggest and the price wouldn't, like jetronic fuel injection, a zero pollen air filter, 4-wheel disc brakes, rack-and-pinion steering. As for front-wheel drive, we consider that so basic, we don't even bother to put it on the sticker.

Which brings up something else: While you could pay extra to get some of Saab's features on another car, you'd still have another car.

Or maybe Road & Track said it better. "Price is one of the things that makes the 900 so attractive. The other is that it's a Saab."

Sidewalk Sales Day

Lawrence Intown will hold its annual Sidewalk Sale Day on Friday, July 1. This year the holiday atmosphere will be enhanced by street musicians, organ grinder with monkey, Smoking Sam, Western Electric Pioneer clowns, food booths, face painting, arts league display and the police department Fuzz Bug and Crime Watch van.

Lawrence Intown has a new look of wide sidewalks, young trees and renovated buildings.

Jupiter is believed to be two and one half times larger than all the other planets, satellites, asteroids and comets of our solar system combined.

The normal adult takes about 16 breaths a minute when awake, six to eight when asleep and as many as 100 under stress.

Artworks — Specialists In Fine Art Prints

Artworks, 30 Park St., Andover, is not just another gallery; it has something for everyone! Specializing in fine art prints, Artworks has a beautiful Showroom of limited edition prints and artwork to please everyone's tastes: watercolors, lithographs, photographs, reproductions and much more.

Everyone's welcome to come in and browse. And, during the month of June, anyone who visits Artworks will receive a free print!

Let Artworks help you select the perfect print for your home or office. Artworks also does commercial work assisting in the selection of prints or photos for offices, restaurants or entire businesses.

Ann Keohan, owner of Artworks, realizes that business people are often too busy to make it into Artworks. So she goes to them with a collection of works to choose from. Artworks offers a free consultation and, with the purchase of four or more prints, a 10% discount.

Everyone has something to frame whether it's a diploma, a family picture or your own artwork. Right now, thru the month of June, Artworks offers 5% off its complete custom framing (done right on the premises).

Choose from a wide assortment of frames: wood, metal and even the new formica frames that come in scrumptious new colors to match any designer decor. There's also a choice of regular or non-glare glass as well as many mat colors. All at reasonable prices.

Remember, a print or watercolor or whatever make a beautiful gift and enhance the decor of any room.

Ann Keohan just opened Artworks in January but has been working with art for about ten years. She used to own Photoworks in Boston. And before that she was a free lance artist and photographer.

So if you're doing your home over, decorating an office or just looking for something special, visit Artworks and let Ann help you pick out the perfect print! Open Tuesday thru Saturday 10-5 p.m. Tel. 475-5399.

Dairy Festival

The Dairy Festival, sponsored by the dairy farmers of New England, will be held on Boston Common Saturday, June 4, through Friday, June 10.

The central attraction, the "Dairy Festival on Wheels," a mobile display featuring dairy cows at work, consists of two large trailers. The barn trailer has all the comforts of home for the stars of the show—four dairy cows. The second trailer contains a scaled-down version of the automatic milking parlors used on modern dairy farms. This one uses glass pipelines so an audience can watch the entire milking process.

REALTOR

ARE YOU A SALESMAN?

Home buyers all operate on the same basic principle. If and when you do find who is actually interested in buying your home, will you be able to bargain successfully with him? He is almost certain to make an offer substantially below your asking price. It will be difficult for you to discuss price, terms, possession, and multitude of details involved. As a principal in the transaction, you will have little or no freedom to negotiate.

Salesmanship in Real Estate involves more than just selling. It encompasses many technical areas, negotiations, contracts, and intricate financing. Even if you're the best salesman in the world, it still pays to have an experienced REALTOR serve as your intermediary, negotiator and advisor. He has no inhibiting emotional attachments and his familiarity with the local market is your most reliable route to the best price available.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 PUNCHARD AVE., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Water

um level tested at 28 mg/l (it was at 33 mg/l during 1982, McQuade says, and at 32 in 1981), while the state standard is 20 mg/l.

Kubit points out that Massachusetts is the only state to recommend a sodium level — there is no federal level on sodium — based on a recommendation from the American Heart Association on what sodium level might harm residents with health problems.

Towns with a sodium level above 20 mg/l are required to test for sodium content quarterly and report to consumers. That "water advisory" is included in Andover's annual town meeting warrant.

"More than two-thirds" of the sodium in Andover's water is natural, McQuade says, and occurs in the surface water. The rest comes from chemicals added at the treatment plant: sodium hypochlorite, which disinfects the water and removes bacteria; and sodium hydroxide, added to reduce corrosion in water pipes.

"Even at 33 parts per milligram, a person would have to drink over two quarts of water every day for 18 months to get the equivalent of one ounce of sodium from Andover water," the DPW director says. One ounce of sodium contains 18,350 milligrams of sodium; one slice of white bread has 114 milligrams of sodium and one cup of milk, 122 milligrams, McQuade says.

"The only ones affected would be those on an ultra, ultra salt-free diet," he comments.

The DPW director says that neither WBZ-TV nor Water General visited Andover or have "any idea of the treatment facility we have here." Water testing is usually based on five samples, but Water General took only one sample in Andover, he says, and then interpreted it by their own "arbitrary" standards, without "looking at EPA (the federal Environmental Protection Agency) or state requirements."

McQuade maintains that the samples on iron and turbidity were "erroneous. Normally if one sample looks funny you repeat it, but they chose not to. You can contaminate an iron sample by using the wrong bottle, for example."

The DPW director believes Water General used at least two "wrong samples" and judged Andover's water "on no basis at all" to come up with findings he calls "false. This is not an interpretation of our actual water quality."

Tucker

icated to implementing properly and efficiently federal air-quality regulations.

Before Massachusetts or any other state marches to Washington demanding emissions reductions at out-of-state factories, it is vital that such states clean their own houses first. Massachusetts has done this successfully in terms of strictly enforcing emissions standards at Bay State factories and utilities and ensuring timely compliance with federal air laws by Massachusetts industry in general.

At the State House, support is growing for a concerted push from state legislators asking Congress to move quickly on the acid rain issue. In an effort to provide information and gain support for federal acid-rain legislation, I recently co-sponsored a State House forum on the topic, featuring acid rain specialists from state and federal environmental agencies as well as non-profit environmental groups concerned about the issue. Also included in the forum was a showing of the controversial film produced by the Canadian government, "Acid Rain: Requiem or Recovery?" Reagan Administration officials were upset that the Canadian government—which blames U.S. smokestacks for much of Canada's acid rain problem—presented a biased view of the issue in the film.

I will show the film again later this month at "River Fest '83," the annual festival on the Merrimack River at Deer Jump Reservation in Andover. The film will be shown three times during the festival, set for June 18 (rain date—June 19).

The film explains that all rain is mildly acidic, but rain in some parts of the world, including much of the Northeastern United States and Canada, is significantly more acidic than the norm. Moreover, the level of acidity in New England has been increasing since 1940, a trend that continues to the present day. Research conducted in the late 1970s at Hubbard Brook Experimental Forest in New Hampshire found precipitation in many individual rainstorms to be more acidic than vinegar.

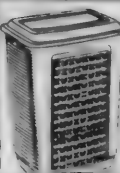

Acid rain's wide-ranging effects on the environment of New England the health of its citizens include damage to aquatic life, crops and other vegetation. Hundreds of New England lakes have been acidified to the point where the fish population has significantly declined or been destroyed.

Acid rain also has the potential for indirect harm to humans. Acidified lake water can dissolve toxic metals from sediments, thus contaminating fish. Consumption of these fish may be hazardous to human health. Also, acidic water can dissolve metals from pipes, thus creating the possibility that toxic metals might enter drinking water.

Other effects of acid rain include soil and forest damage, corrosion of paint on cars, buildings and other structures, reduction in the durability of exterior paints, accelerated corrosion of limestone, marble and concrete building materials, deterioration of textiles and the fading of textile dyes.

It is clear that governmental action, primarily at the federal level but also in individual states, is urgently needed. Federal legislation must be sensitive both to the environmental crisis of acid rain and to the economic and job effects that could result from a legislative solution to the problem. Eliminating coal-industry jobs and raising utility costs for the economically depressed Midwest must not be the result of legislation aimed at solving an environmental problem in New England. The needs of the two different regions must be balanced and hopefully a compromise can be reached encompassing a reduction in Midwestern smokestack emissions that is jointly financed by both regions as part of a federal acid-rain program.

398 Receive Diplomas At 124th Graduation

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The Class of 1983 was launched into the real world under sunny skies Monday afternoon, when Andover High School's 124th commencement exercises were held at Eugene V. Lovely Field.

Diplomas were presented to 398 graduates: as Principal Mary Jennings pointed out, the highest percentage of students to finish high school "than ever before in our history."

The long blue line of capped and gowned seniors had to fight strong breezes as they marched slowly onto the field to the time-honored strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," while family and friends in the bleachers squinted into the sun. In a boisterous mood, the class broke into cheers at the first notes of the processional and throughout the ceremonies — applauding and cheering even the invocation given by Class President Thomas Kannam.

Class Vice President Julie Burke introduced the commencement speaker, radio personality Norm Nathan, as a man who has brought "color and love to the New England airwaves" along with "humor that has spanned several generations."

As he stepped to the podium, Nathan said he was "fantasizing just a bit — I'm pretending that there's no graduation here tonight, and you all came just to hear me speak."

In his informal and often funny address to the graduates, he urged them to "go for it" as they face their futures. "The key probably is, don't be afraid to fail," he said. "That's an un-American thing to say, but if you shoot for the moon, you're gonna miss once in a while."

Nathan directed his comments particularly to the students who have not been the best and the brightest, who "never really made it big in high school. You're my kind of people," he said. "Take comfort — you have no place to go but up. It really can be a blessing in disguise, because you'll try harder and develop an 'I'll show them' attitude," he explained.

Their high school experiences, he predicted, will stay with the students for a long time to come ("You'll never forget — you're gonna try, but you won't"); He recited anecdotes about former presidents Truman and Ford and actor Dustin Hoffman as less-than high school successes.

Nathan invited the graduates to stand and applaud their parents ("those heroes and heroines") and favorite teachers before he offered them his congratulations and his hope that "life is very kind to you."

ees for excellence in public speaking, two students offered their winning essays.

Anne Maher said their high school education has taught the students "to overcome apathy, to become inquisitive and intellectually curious," to "thirst for truth and higher understanding," to trust their own "creativity and free thought."

She spoke of last fall's "racially-motivated vandalism" at the school as a sign that "there are still people unable to see beyond the color of another person's skin and into the depth of his character." Many of her classmates were "not afraid" to speak out against that incident, she said, "and when I think that these are the people who will share in my future, I feel safe and optimistic."

The speaker urged her classmates to avoid "the crippling desire to play it safe" and pursue their dreams as artists filling the "empty canvas" of their lives: "Remember that you are people first, and your quest for self-fulfillment is important."

In his address, Peter Scanlon spoke of the influence of nuclear forces, computer technology and "political and social machinery" during the "dawning of a great technological adolescence" in the years ahead. The graduates must seek creative solutions to those potential problems and act on their convictions, for "the purpose of life is to matter."

Looking back on the past three years, he noted that his class "has been a part of the great Warrior spirit revival" that made school "actually fun." He cited student involvement in blood donation campaigns and the creation of Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD), and reminded his classmates that "life is achieving. Life is active. It is the getting there that counts."

"It is hard to step out into the unknown," he concluded, "but here we have gained a spirit of optimism. There is hope, and a promise looming on our horizon."

Julie Burke led the Salute to the Flag, and Dana Atwood conducted the national anthem as Ellen Perry led the singing.

Basiliki Katsaros, valedictorian, and Janice Gable, salutarian, served as class marshals.

In her welcoming remarks, Principal Jennings noted that high school commencement has become "an American rite of passage, from youth into young adulthood." Andover's Class of 1983 is "prepared for young adulthood," she said.

American Field Service (AFS) exchange students Juan Escofet of Spain and Amporn Noiwan of Thailand offered thanks for their year in Andover, and presented flags of their countries to Mrs. Jennings.

John Harper, representing ABC (A Better Chance) seniors, also offered thanks for his Andover experiences, and presented the ABC Teacher of the Year award to "outstanding teacher" Susan Morgan.

The choir sang "Festival Piece on Saint Anne," directed by Paul Rollins, accompanied by John Driscoll.

Superintendent Kenneth Seifert read the names of scholarship winners — and in his remarks took the opportunity to congratulate David Bellino, who achieved perfect attendance for the past six years. "You're an unusual person," Seifert told the graduate.

He also commended the seniors for their senior prom, saying the class knows how "to play with dignity. They're a great credit to the town."

School Committee members Richard Neal, chairman; Michael Giammusso, Susan Poore, Donald Robb and Robert Smith then presented diplomas to the graduates as students David Barron, Laura Grams, Richard Kelly and Anne Maher read names, punctuated by scattered cheering.

Gowns billowed in the wind and students struggled to keep their caps on as they approached the podium. Two students managed to say "Hi, Mom" and "Thanks, Mom and Dad" into the microphone as they collected their diplomas. (And at one point, one student reader was heard to murmur "uh-oh" as he temporarily lost track of his names.)

As the last graduate received her diploma the class tossed their caps up into the wind, even as class Secretary-Treasurer Tracy Dowd struggled to read the benediction over the uproar. Without waiting for the recessional, the class dissolved into a crowd scene as proud parents, siblings and friends moved onto the field with flowers, balloons and cameras in hand.

Choir members offer musical interlude.

'We Have Gained Insight Into People'

By Peter Scanlon
Co-Recipient, Goldsmith Award

Members of the School Committee, Dr. Seifert, Dr. Mitsakos, Mr. Nathan, Ms. Jennings, Faculty, Family and Friends, Fellow Classmates:

We step today into the dawning of a great technological adolescence - an era marked by boundless progress and limitless promise. As we enter this 21st century, however, we human beings are also faced with many significant problems. The same nuclear forces which promise to be our energy salvation of the future, threaten our very destruction today. The same computer technology which promises to accelerate our pursuit of knowledge, threatens to thwart the creativity and communication skills of people tomorrow.

The same political and social machinery which governs our society threatens to become removed from the people it represents - those inactive many who rely on the government to do all, while never taking an active role themselves.

The solution to these problems can only be found in the creative use of man's intelligence. First, we, the people of the world, must look at our situation realistically. We must recognize a genuine problem, for here the process of solution will begin. Second, we assess the needs and identify the options open to us. Third, we must voice our opinions to the leaders of our community and our world. Finally, we must act upon our convictions. We must become involved in the solution to these problems. We must give testimony to the truth that "The purpose of life is to matter - to count, to stand for something, to have it make some difference that we lived at all."

When we entered Andover High School for the first time in the fall of 1980, we were overwhelmed by gargantuan dimensions. As we stepped into the vast vaults that were corridors, everything seemed huge and strange and puzzling. Fear engulfed us. Yet, we move forward to the educational opportunities awaiting us. During the past three years, we have taken advantage of all that Andover High has had to offer us.

We have enjoyed the satisfaction one gets in grasping the soul of an author inherent in his work - of arriving at the correct solution to a complex physics problem.

We have experienced the gratification of making something work. Whether it was chemistry lab or in the auto shop, we were overjoyed when everything finally went right.

Under the direction of our principal, Ms. Jennings, and with the support of our Andover High Faculty, we have witnessed, and been a part of, the great warrior spirit revival. School was actually fun when all the guys wore mini-skirts on Punk Day, and when even the teachers donned costumes and danced into our December Assembly!

We have learned, too, to get involved. In contributing to the Life-Line of the Bloodmobile, the students of Andover High have saved literally hundreds of lives. In initiating the campaign for Students Against Driving Drunk, Andover, has led other communities in taking positive, preventative action.

On a personal level, we have survived major and minor crises. Many have conquered personal challenges — academic, athletic or social. Some have coped with family problems while still fulfilling school demands and requirements. A few, like our classmate Mike Epstein, have met with and endured a major illness or injury. In the courage and strength of Mike, we have all found inspiration. He has shown us that this life really is worth living.

What is it, then, that we have learned at Andover High? Maybe more important than all the facts and knowledge, we have gained an insight into people. How to deal with others — how to interact in a responsible community — and how to look at things that we meet along the way.

Happiness in life is not the achievement of our goals. Life is achieving. Life is active. It is the getting there that counts, and we will be happy only so long as we push our hearts and our brains to the farthest reaches possible.

Knowledge is not wisdom. Learning alone is not wisdom. Wisdom is the application of knowledge and facts. The wise old man at the top of the mountain did not get there solely by reading books. He had to climb — to reach — to stretch out beyond his limits. He took an active part in life, and we must, too.

In a way, any one of our teachers could be that wise old man. Like him, their job has not been to bid us enter into their house of wisdom, but rather to lead us to the threshold of our own minds.

Andover High School has served as fallow ground for the cultivation of our minds. We thank the administration, especially Ms. Jennings, our principal, and all our faculty, for proving that fallow ground.

Thomas Kannan, class president, gives invocation.

'Face Futures With Humility And Courage'

By Anne Maher
Co-Recipient, Goldsmith Award

It is not often that we reach a milestone in our lives. Today we have. Soon the diplomas will be passed out, the caps will go flying through the air, and we will leave Andover High, as high school graduates ready to greet tomorrow. It all sounds very simple, but many of us wonder what tomorrow will be like. In order to answer this, we must first ask ourselves what we have learned over these past three years to prepare us for this tomorrow.

Many of us have learned to overcome apathy and to become inquisitive and intellectually curious. Some of us have learned to thirst for truth and for higher understanding, and some of us have grown to accept the qualities of creativity and free thought. Along with these positive lessons, we have learned something tragic about the human race. As a result of the racially motivated vandalism which occurred earlier this year, we have learned that there are still people who are unable to see beyond the color of another person's skin and into the depth of his character. Because of this incident, we have learned that the reputation and integrity of the whole can become tarnished by the actions of a mere few. I have, however, learned that I have classmates who are mature and intelligent enough to attack this incident. Who are not afraid to take an open stand for what they know is right, who will not tolerate prejudice or crime, who will not pre-judge or discriminate against another's individuality, and who, I must indicate, possess a conscience. When I think that these are the people who will share in my future, I feel safe and optimistic.

Sometimes this world, which should stand for peace and non-violence, seems bleak and contradictory. At times the future seems negative and counterproductive and, as a result, we become weary. Out of our weariness comes caution, suspicion and the crippling desire to play it safe. We become so worried about what we have to lose that we never begin to think about what we still have left to gain. Many times we pursue a path in life which we neither like nor want, but we continue with it because we are afraid of where the other path may lead. We are so concerned about the future that we forget about the present and we abandon our own personal hopes and dreams. The unfortunate part of this is that dreams are what give us our purpose in life. Instead, we must look at our futures as being empty canvases, we being the artists. We can paint the canvas in any way we like — and, yes, we will make mistakes, but they will only add in making the final picture appear more human.

Today we will leave behind a part of ourselves. But, what is even sadder than this, is that we will be leaving behind our friends. These are the people who have been with us all of these years, who have grown to accept us as we are, who are aware of the worst sides of our personalities, and yet, have chosen to love us in spite of this. In his book entitled "The Prophet," Kahlik Gibran wrote a very meaningful piece on friendship, which I feel is appropriate for today. He wrote: "When you part from your friend, you grieve not; for that which you love most in him may be clearer in his absence."

For my classmates and friends, I have one wish — that you face your futures with humility and courage. I hope you never forget what you have learned in the short time that you were here. Remember that you are people first and your quest for self-purpose is important. The future sets us free, so shape it to your liking and when you, the artist, step back to scrutinize your painting, I hope you are content with the picture you see.

Thank you and good luck!

OUR 55th YEAR

53 journalists from 16 countries named it Europe's "Car of The Year."

We named it the new Audi 5000S.

When the new Audi 5000S was voted Europe's "Car of The Year," we were, of course, pleased. But we weren't surprised.

You won't be either once you drive it.

How many other five-passenger luxury touring sedans can accelerate from zero to 50 in just 8 seconds? Or cut through wind resistance with the impunity of a sports car? Or handle superbly, even in tight-cornering situations?

The new 5000S, with its advanced German engineering, can do all this. And more. In fact, after 6 years of designing and refining and over 3.2 million kilometers of road testing, this just may be the most roadworthy luxury sedan ever built.

The 5000S is also the product of fresh design ideas. For example, the idea of flush-mounted side windows and bonded front and rear windows (which not only help reduce drag but virtually eliminate wind noise).

What's more, you'll like the idea of our new 24-month, unlimited mileage warranty* and the long-term reliability that prompted it.

But, most of all, you'll like driving the new Audi 5000S.

Not because all those experts did. But for all the same reasons they did.
